

Press Release:

No-Till Field Day

Buena Vista Soil and Water Conservation District will be hosting a field day featuring Jerry Hatfield of the National Soil Tilth Laboratory of Ames, IA. If you have had an interest in converting to a no-till operation, or just want to inquire about its pros and cons...
...here is your chance to question the experts. Find out from them how the long term benefits can maximize your farming operation.

The No-Till Field Day will be at:

Bill Keller's homestead

Address: 915 630th St. south of Storm Lake

Date: Monday May 23rd, 2005

Time: 10:00am

On the eve of the Conservation Security Program deadline, come find out how to increase stewardship payments in the coming years. Those not eligible for the North Raccoon Watershed sign-up should come and see how this can increase your payment and eligibility for a future sign-up.

Please call Kim Proctor at the NRCS office with any questions at 732-3096.
